

Northrop Grumman Information Systems | Public Health Analyst | Atlanta, GA / USA | Information Technology Posting ID: IT/011350
Save this job to My Jobs (Allows you to put the job in memory and return to it later).

Description:

Public Health Analyst: Seeking a Program Evaluator for the Applied Research and Evaluation Branch with CDC's Division for Heart Disease and Stroke Prevention (DHDSPP). The Division provides national leadership to prevent death and disability from heart disease and stroke. In particular, DHDSPP provides funding and support to state health departments in support of public health strategies and programs for the early detection and treatment of heart attacks, strokes and related risk factors. The position will plan, design, analyze report and utilize program evaluations at national and state levels; build and enhance evaluation capacity in public health programs; conduct evaluation training; develop evaluation manuals and guidance documents; and provide evaluation consultation and technical assistance to program grantees. The position will collaborate with the Program Development and Services Branch, Epidemiology and Surveillance Branch, and other public and private entities to plan, develop, conduct and use program evaluations. The position will attend national meetings, internal meetings and site visits. Required Skills: Position requires a background in public health and program evaluation. Ability to work under limited supervision, as well as in a team environment. Strong communication skills, both oral and written. MS/MA/MPH/PhD Additional Desired Skills/Pluses: None Educational Requirements: BS/BA required, MS/MA required, [Major:] 10 Years of experience in lieu of degree No relocation Assistance provided and no pension plan offered Security Clearance Required.
<http://careers.northropgrumman.com/ExternalHorizonsWeb/getJobPostDetail.do?sequenceNumber=121724>